

Attention current sophomores, juniors and seniors:

South Carolina Business Week is available to the state's rising high school sophomores, juniors and seniors. More than 30 prominent business executives are invited to teach current business topics and leadership skills. Students are solicited through the guidance departments of both public and private high schools.

20 executives are recruited to remain with the students for the entire week, managing a team of students called a "company" in an advisory capacity. Starting with the basics and adding topics throughout the week, students collaborate with executives in an intensive program designed to develop a thorough understanding of private enterprise. Along with an emphasis on teamwork and leadership skills, some issues included in the program include:

Basic Business

Finance

Ethics in business

Leadership profiling

The significance of diversity in business

Entrepreneurship

Important Dates: May 1, 2009

Deadline for receipt of applications. Applications received after May 1 will be accepted if space is available.
