On the Calendar

Friday, March 25 - Sunday, April 3

- Greenville County Schools and Offices Closed for Spring Break

Saturday, April 2

- iImagine Upstate Festival in downtown Greenville from 11am – 5pm. See the Roper Mountain Extreme Science Live stage show on the GE Power & Water Engage Stage at Fluor Field! Experience the extremes of cold and hot and be blown away by intense chemical and physical reactions. On Main Street visitors will design, create, build and test a Mars "lander" and turn a phone/device into a holographic projector. Scientists will also use liquid nitrogen to make ice-cream.

Monday, April 4

- "It Can Wait Driving Simulator" at J.L. Mann High School, 8:45am-2pm. AT&T will sponsor the distracted driving simulation. Students will sit in the "car" wearing virtual reality goggles to experience the dangers of looking at and responding to texts behind the wheel.

Tuesday, April 5

- Project SOAR at Fisher Middle School. The Celebrate Freedom Foundation will bring two helicopters – one stagnant and one that will land at the school between 9:25 and 10 am. The choppers will remain on campus until 3pm. Students will each participate in a 30 minute presentation with hands-on activities, experiments and simulations. Every student will have the opportunity to visit the helicopters and learn about careers in aviation. The event is sponsored by corporate partner Hubbell Lighting.

Thursday, April 7

- Fork Shoals School Historical Marker. The South Carolina Department of Archives will designate Fork Shoals School as a historical landmark. The dedication ceremony will take place at 9am at 916 McKelvey Road. Fork Shoals School was established in 1877.
