Introduction

The Blue Ridge High School portfolio was developed to document the changes and progress our school has made while working to continuously improve everything we do. The portfolio provides our staff, students, parents, and community with an ongoing means of self-assessment, communication, continuous improvement, and accountability.

This school portfolio is a living document that describes Blue Ridge High School and includes actual evidence of our work. It describes who we are, our vision for the school, goals, plans, progress, achievements in the context of client demographics and needs, and school partnerships. The portfolio also describes how we build and utilize our overall school plan for the purpose of improving student achievement – our ultimate outcome. It is in this portfolio that one can see an overview of all the progress and changes we have been able to accomplish within each section and throughout our school during this time. It also shows how all of the parts fit together to make our school a positive place for our students.

A team of teachers were involved in developing the narrative for our portfolio based on input from the staff, along with students, parents, and members of the community. Much of the narrative content came from staff discussions in the process of evaluating our work. These discussions and assessments asked staff to contribute “evidence” of our progress.

Please enjoy this comprehensive treasure as it provides the story of who we are and how we work together to continuously improve what we do to prepare our students to become successful citizens and participants in the present and future world!

Executive Summary

In accordance with South Carolina Curriculum Standards, Blue Ridge High School (BRHS) gathers and analyzes data on student academic achievement through standardized test results and other student performance sources. Examples of these standardized tests include the American College Test (ACT), Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), and the WIN (Worldwide Interactive Network Ready to Work assessment) as the main indicators of measuring student achievement. It is mandatory that all students in their third year of high school take the WIN. The ACT and SAT are taken voluntarily by any junior or senior. In addition, students who are enrolled in Algebra I, English II, Biology, and US History are assessed using End-of-Course Exams. A summary of BRHS students' scores follows. Finally, BRHS teachers use formative and summative assessments to regularly monitor student progress and modify instruction as needed. These assessments provide a variety of evidence that achievement goals have been met. Throughout each semester, teachers communicate and collaborate with colleagues in order to improve student performance.

School Profile

School Community

Blue Ridge High School is located in a rural community situated in the northern portion of Greenville County, South Carolina. It is nestled in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains near the North Carolina border, between the cities of Greer and Travelers Rest. Though the school is not located in a designated town, it is within a close-knit community. Blue Ridge High School is one of 14 traditional high schools in Greenville County.

Blue Ridge High School was first established in 1955. The original building was located on Tyger Bridge Road. The current building was constructed in 1986 and the renovation/expansion project was completed in January 2006. When Blue Ridge High School first opened its doors, there were 339 grade eight through twelve students enrolled. Upon completion of the renovation project, the building capacity is now 1,300 students, grades nine through twelve. There are currently approximately 1025 students and 72 certified faculty members.

The Blue Ridge High School attendance area is one of the largest geographical areas in the Greenville County School District. It covers approximately 186 square miles and makes up approximately 23 percent of the entire county. Most families living in the community of Blue Ridge have a long ancestral history, dating back for several generations. However, there is a steady influx of new families with many new subdivisions being built in the area.

The economic status of the region runs the gamut from low to upper income brackets. Due to the rural setting of the school, many workers travel to other locales to work in businesses and industries. This relationship allows Blue Ridge High to foster many contacts within the surrounding business community.

The Blue Ridge area is served by a variety of higher education facilities. North Greenville University, Furman University, and the Greer campus of Greenville Technical College are located in close proximity to Blue Ridge High School. Additional educational opportunities are available in the Greenville area through the University Center of Greenville and various other organizations. The convenience of the higher learning facilities allows easy access and familiarity to the students.

Major Academic and Behavioral Features/Programs/Initiatives

Blue Ridge High School promotes student involvement in extra-curricular activities and programs. A wide array of offerings is available to students: Beta Club, Student Council, National Honor Society, AFJROTC, Spanish Club, Health Occupations Students of America, Future Farmers of America, Key Club, and Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Currently, almost 50 percent of our student body is actively involved in our athletic programs, the Blue Ridge High School Corps of Cadets, and our Chorus and Orchestra. In addition, we offer Credit Recovery through VirtualSC for students needing to make up academic credits.

Blue Ridge High School currently uses the 4X4 Block with embedded A/B Scheduling model. Using this model provides teachers with larger blocks of time for instruction that can be more student-centered. Teachers can also better incorporate project-based learning and inquiry learning experiences into the curriculum. The 4X4 Block model also affords teachers better opportunity to address differences in learning styles and intelligence modes. This model encourages students and teachers to work cooperatively as a community of learners who encourage and support each other.

At Blue Ridge High School, we have been very successful in our overall approach to educating children. Our daily operations have been established by the administration with input from the faculty and staff. The BRHS administration and faculty is afforded discriminatory privileges with funding and allocations in order to make spending decisions that best suit the needs of the students and overall educational program.

In addition, BRHS has established an academic learning climate in which there is a focus on instructional goals. The decision-making process is collaborative and provides opportunities for meaningful involvement of school stakeholders. Progress in improving student achievement and instructional effectiveness is monitored frequently and is adjusted as necessary. Instruction at Blue Ridge High School is based on a standards and data driven curriculum. Teachers make adjustments to the instructional process based on student learning styles and assessments of student learning. Instruction at BRHS has become more uniform and consistent by focusing on learning standards and implementing strategies for the EOC, WIN, ACT, and SAT. Curriculum at Blue Ridge High School is firmly centered on both state and district learning standards. The curriculum focuses on the diverse needs of all student learners and provides opportunities for acceleration and remediation in language arts, mathematics, science, and social studies. Blue Ridge High School continues to embrace the Personalized Learning Initiative, in which every student was issued a district-provided device for the use in and out of the classroom.

Teacher and Administrator Quality

Evidence of Strengths

- The school collaboratively develops a school wide plan for improvement.
- Teachers analyze student achievement on classroom assessments, common unit assessments, benchmark assessments and standardized tests in order to determine how to best help students succeed.
- The use of PowerTeacher has aided teachers in keeping accurate records of student attendance.
- The use of PowerTeacher (grade book software) has aided teachers in keeping accurate records of student progress. The use of this program has also increased parent communication by enabling teachers to send electronic progress reports to parents via email.
- PowerTeacher training is available as needed.
- District committees and school staff are working to better align instruction with those specific goals and objectives.
- Departmental meetings allow opportunities for sharing ideas and support.
- Teachers use the following types of data to make instructional decisions: school report card, classroom assessments, Individual Education Plans (IEP's), and observations.
- Teachers have access to internet resources, materials in the media center, ETV streamline video, distance learning, content department and instructional leaders and on-site workshops to help improve instruction.

- Teachers work cooperatively on creating common syllabi for courses. Teachers provide syllabi to students and parents. The syllabi are aligned to the state curriculum standards and include classroom expectations, grading policies, and an outline of course content.
- Teachers provide syllabi and outlines of courses on their websites.
- Teachers meet at school, district, and state levels to receive and share knowledge in updating the curriculum.
- Departmental meetings are held bi-monthly to address curriculum related issues and to share ideas.
- Faculty in-services focus on improving student achievement.
- Common unit assessments are used by all teachers teaching a course with other teachers and data analysis meetings are held to review data and instructional strategies.
- Teachers use a variety of assessments: standardized tests, objective tests, essays, daily work, homework, portfolios, projects, rubrics, grading scales, and performance assessments.

Evidence of Need

- Opportunities for peer observations are needed.
- Vertical Team meetings are needed to allow opportunities for sharing ideas and support.
- Additional departmental planning opportunities are needed in order to continue our focus on refining curriculum foundations.
