

Character Trait: Tolerance

To be tolerant is to be willing to accept feelings, habits, or beliefs that are different than your own.

I get along well with others, even people who are different than me.

We must value the differences and strengths of others.